DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 17 May 2007 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-2 and 7-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 and 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuen et al. (5,931,825).

Kuen discloses an absorbent garment, as shown in figure 1, having front and rear waist regions and a crotch region. The garment comprises a liquid barrier layer 48 and a stretchable carrier layer 46 placed in a facing relationship with the barrier layer 48, as shown in figure 3, and extending from the front waist region to the rear waist region, as shown in figure 2. An elastic layer 36 is attached to the stretchable carrier layer 46, as shown in figure 3, and extends away from the lateral centerline of the garment, as shown in figure 2. An absorbent section 56 is disposed on the inner surface of the liquid barrier layer 48, as shown in figure 3.

With respect to claim 2, the absorbent section 56 is disposed on the inner surface of the stretchable carrier layer 46, as shown in figure 3.

With respect to claims 7 and 8, the elastic layer 36 is attached to the stretchable carrier layer 46 on both sides of the lateral centerline of the garment in both the front and rear waist regions, as shown in figure 2.

With respect to claim 9, the stretchable carrier layer 46 comprises a nonwoven material, as disclosed in column 4, lines 28-29, which is fully capable of being stretched in the lateral direction of the garment.

With respect to claims 10 and 12, a fastener element 20 attaches the elastic layer 36 to form the garment, as shown in figure 1.

With respect to claim 11, an elastic ear material 34 is bonded to a side edge of the elastic layer 36, as shown in figure 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuen et al. (5,931,825) in view of Van Gompel et al. (4,938,753).

Kuen discloses all aspects of the claimed invention with the exception of the method of making the absorbent garment. Van Gompel teaches the method of forming a series of garments and selectively cutting into individual garments, as shown in figure 14 and disclosed in column 12, lines 3-37, to efficiently manufacture a large number of garments at once. It would therefore be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to produce the garments of Kuen by the method taught by Van Gompel, in order to efficiently manufacture a large number of garments at once.
